PETARMOR® PROVIDES ULTIMATE PROTECTION TO POLICE DOGS
ACROSS THE NATION WITH BULLET AND STAB PROTECTIVE VEST DONATION

Omaha, NE. (Sept. 19, 2013) – PetArmor®, known for its veterinarian-quality products that protect dogs and cats from fleas and ticks, is now also helping to protect four legged K-9s in the line of duty.

As part of a yearlong partnership with Vested Interest in K-9s, PetArmor®, is providing funding for bullet and stab protective vests for law enforcement K-9s in Texas, Florida and Maryland.

“My Patrol K-9 Unit assists patrol officers with apprehensions and searches and evidence. We also assist the SWAT Team and various other units throughout the department,” said Austin Police Department Sergeant Chris Gwaldo. “We are thrilled that – thanks to PetArmor® – our entire patrol unit will be more fully protected while on the job.”

More often than not, law enforcement agencies do not have the budgets to provide vests for K-9 officers — which cost around $1,000 each — leaving police dogs unprotected while helping to fight crime. Vested Interest in K-9s is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing bullet and stab protective vests to police organizations nationwide. Since 2009, the non-profit organization has provided 437 vests.

“Police K-9 units provide an invaluable service to their community and deserve the same kind of protection as their human counterparts,” said Sandy Marcal, founder of Vested Interest in K-9s, Inc. “Thanks to PetArmor[®], many more police dogs will be protected from harm while they protect their neighborhoods and towns.”

The K-9 vests are custom sized to provide maximum comfort and mobility. The K-9 vests provide maximum coverage to the vital organs in addition to a rear extension panel to accommodate dogs with longer torsos.

PetArmor’s[®] initial donation benefits dogs at police departments, which have requested assistance in vesting their police dogs. “As a leader in pet protection, PetArmor[®] is excited to partner with Vested Interest in K-9s and protect the dogs that put their lives on the line to protect us,” said Bob Scharf of Perrigo Animal Health. “This partnership is a continuation of PetArmor’s[®] ongoing animal welfare and charity efforts.”
